Note: The implementation of this program will be officially decided upon official report of its adoption by the Government of Japan.

This information pertains to one of the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA)'s Knowledge Co-Creation Program (Long-Term). This handout gives information on the overview of the program.

This program will be implemented as part of the Official Development Assistance of the Government of Japan based on bilateral agreement between both governments.

Each country may have its own schedule and/or qualifications for the program.

With regard to the additional information, please contact JICA overseas office in your country.

I. Overview

Globalization and rapid scientific progress have brought new challenges for the field of public international law. Looking at the field of the law of the sea for instance, although the United Nations Conventions on the Law of the Sea guide states' behaviors and policies on various maritime issues, challenges such as piracy, illegal trafficking of drugs, illegal operations, conflicts over marine resources, and preservation of the marine environment still exist.

Japan has also been working actively in order to tackle above-mentioned issues. For example, in the Indo-Pacific region, Japan has been advocating the vision "Free and Open Indo-Pacific" (FOIP), which aims to promote peace, stability, and prosperity across the region through ensuring rules-based international order including the rule of law, freedom of navigation and overflight, peaceful settlement of disputes, and promotion of free trade. This Program provides participants with opportunities to study in Japan to gain specialized knowledge on public international law necessary for addressing public international law affairs in accordance with the rules-based international order.

II. Objectives

1. Overall Goal

To promote the target countries' capacity to contribute to the rules-based international order.

2. Program Purpose

To develop core human resources in the field of public international law in the target countries.

3. Outputs

Participants are expected:

- To complete all the requirements to obtain the set degree within the given period of time.
- To deepen specialized knowledge for the public international law.

III. Program Outline

The program for JFY 2024 consists of the acceptance of government officials and/or researcher in charge of public international law affairs.

Depending on the situation, academic researchers of universities or research institutes majoring in the field of public international law may also qualify, but preference will be given to government officials if all other factors are equal.

The participants are expected to meet all the requirements to obtain a master's degree within the given period of time. In addition, the participants are also expected to deepen specialized knowledge for the public international law. The participants are also expected to regularly report to the progress of their studies to JICA.

An applicant who is chosen as a candidate as result of the selection at JICA (see IX 2) in respective target countries may select a university, to which he/she wishes to apply, from the universities listed in the Annex 1.

To be selected as a participant of this program, the candidate must be accepted by the Japanese university to which he/she applies.

IV. Duration

Approximately two (2) years

*Maximum two and a half years if the candidate is admitted to the universities initially as a research student (whose term may last up to six months) and later as a regular student (whose term may last up to two years).

In case the candidate is admitted as a research student, he/she is requested to pass an entrance examination to become a regular student during his/her term as a research student in accordance with the regulations of the university. If he/she fails the examination, the program will be terminated, and the student must immediately return to their home countries.

V. Number of participants

Country	Number of participants
